

Center for Applied Mathematics Tianjin University

HomeAbout usNewsOrganizationPeoplePublicationsRecruitmentContactHome >>

Peter Paule Appointed Adjunct Professor

Posted on 2017-08-03 by Peter Paule has been appointed as an adjunct professor at the Center for Applied Mathematics, Tianjin University.

Peter Paule is a member of the Academy of Europe (Academia Europaea), a professor of mathematics, and the director of the Research Institute for Symbolic Computation (RISC) of the Johannes Kepler University Linz, Austria. His research interests concern the fields of combinatorics and computer algebra. He is a Co-Editor-in-Chief of Annals of Combinatorics, and is on the editorial boards of the Journal of Symbolic Computation and the Ramanujan Journal, the Editor-in-Chief of the book series "Texts and Monographs in Symbolic Computation" with Springer.

Center for Applied Mathematics, Tianjin University, No.92 Weijin Road, Tianjin 300072, P. R. China